

SOCIALISTS CLEAR GOVERNOR HATFIELD

Committee Investigating
W. Virginia Strike Conditions Makes Report

BLAME GOV. GLASSCOCK

Hatfield's Predecessor Declared Responsible for Establishment of Martial Law

MINERS WANTED MARTIAL LAW

CHICAGO, JUNE 3.—Gov. Hatfield of West Virginia is exonerated on a number of charges popularly circulated against him in the West Virginia coal mine strike in a report to the national committee of the Socialist party today by Victor L. Berger, Adolph Germer and Eugene V. Debs.

The burden of resentment in the report is directed against Governor Hatfield's predecessor, Governor Glasscock. It was Governor Glasscock, the report says, who was responsible for martial law and many atrocities which the report alleges occurred during his administration. Governor Hatfield is censured for suppressing two socialist papers and imprisoning their editors, but the report quotes the governor as admitting that this action was unjust and declaring that the papers might continue to issue without molestation from the state administration. One portion of the report, speaking of the governor says:

"He further claimed that he had abundant evidence with which to convict some of the leading strikers in the civil courts but that he had not felt disposed to press the cases against them." The committee were shadowed from the moment they arrived at Charleston, W. Va., but nothing came of it, the report declares. After several days of investigation it was determined to visit Governor Hatfield but the latter would see only Debs. The interview was so satisfactory that on the following day the entire committee was received. Of this interview the report says:

"He (Governor Hatfield) had inherited martial law from Governor Glasscock and the reason he permitted it to remain effective was because he was requested to do so by the union miners themselves to prevent the many organizers from being arrested and taken up by the Baldwin-Felt thugs in the employ of the mine owners. This statement of the governor was subsequently verified by all the officials and organizers of the United Mine Workers."

Mine Guards in Jail.
The committee learned from the governor that he had two mine guards in jail and that he had refused to liberate them on bail offered by the operators. The day previous to the interview, the governor had unconditionally released all comrades then remaining in prison. In the course of this talk, the governor referred to the fact that not in a single instance had he affirmed a conviction of the military commission the report states and continues "the governor unhesitatingly declared that working men had the right to organize and that he would protect them in the right to the extent of his power. The socialists had the same right that Republicans and Democrats had, that they were entitled to the right of free speech and free assembly and to the full protection of the law."

The committee found the governor not opposed to the impending senatorial investigation.

"We have no desire," the report says, "to exculpate Governor Hatfield for any act he is justly responsible for but it is undoubtedly true that he has been accused of wrongs which were committed under the administration of Governor Glasscock his predecessor, to whose official spinelessness and subservience to the mine owners are mainly due the outrages, which so long disgraced West Virginia in the eyes of the nation."

It was under the administration of Glasscock and not Hatfield that martial law was declared; that the military commission was created; that Mother Jones, John Brown, C. Boswell and numerous others were court martialed and convicted and it was also under the Glasscock administration that an armored train in the name of law and order shot up the cabins and tents of the miners dealing out death and destruction under cover of darkness, outrage so infamous that it will remain forever as a foul and indelible blot upon the state in which it was perpetrated."

Suppression of Papers Unwarranted.
The suppression of the two socialist papers both outside the martial law zone, according to the report, is characterized as "utterly without warrant and subject to the severest censure."

The demolition of the office of the Star and seizure of Editor Thompson are characterized as "dastardly" although Governor Hatfield is quoted as disavowing any knowledge of violence in suppressing the paper. The governor is further quoted as disavowing a threat which was credited to him that he would deport all miners from the state who refused to accept terms

REBEL TROOPS TAKE MATAMORAS

TOLL OF DEATH ON BOTH SIDES IS REPORTED HEAVY

Remnants of Federal Garrison Make Last Stand From Roofs of Cathedral and Theater But Their Subjection Appears Certain.

BULLETIN.
BROWNSVILLE, TEXAS, JUNE 3.—After a ten hour battle during which the federal garrison of 500 men were reduced by casualties and flight of deserters to the United States side of the Rio Grande to 200, government troops still were in control of the central portion of the city of Matamoras, Mexico, at midnight. At that hour firing had ceased.

Resumption of hostilities at day-break is expected. The rebels, under the personal command of General Lucio Blanco, commander-in-chief of the constitutional forces in the state of Tamaulipas are in possession of all the outlying districts of the city. Lieut. Col. Maria Rivas has taken command of the remnants of the federal troops succeeding Major Estaban Ramos, who was wounded during the battle.

While a handful of men still were offering dogged resistance to the rebel troops of General Lucio Blanco, "constitutional" commander-in-chief of the state of Tamaulipas at ten o'clock tonight Matamoras, Mexico is practically in the hands of the revolutionists. A battle waged without interruption since 10:30 o'clock this morning. Col. Escalera, with 100 volunteers, remnants of the federal garrison is making the last stand from the roofs of the cathedral and theater in Hyalada Plaza, but their subjection before morning is regarded as certain.

Early in the night flames in several sections of the battle-scarred city lighted up the sky for miles around and for a time it was feared that the town was doomed. At 10 o'clock, however, the fire zones had decreased. The total dead on both sides has been heavy. Major Estaban Ramos, federal commander, was wounded early in the engagement. He was brought to a Brownsville hospital. His condition is reported critical. Private Davis of the United States cavalry was wounded by a stray shot while paroling the border on the American side of the Rio Grande and rumors are persistent that Miguel Baragan, mayor of Matamoras, was shot and killed today. These could not be confirmed. Authentic estimates of the dead and wounded will not be available before tomorrow. One report brought by refugees was that between two and three hundred of the combatants had been killed and a double that number wounded. The United States consulate where Consul J. H. Johnson and his staff remained during the fighting was in direct line of the fire the greater part of the day but is standing none of those in the building have been wounded. One hundred and twelve of the federal troops crossed to Brownsville this afternoon and surrendered to the United States military authorities.

Forty Trestles Destroyed.
El Paso, Tex., June 3.—Forty railway trestles on the Mexican Northwestern railway south of McJannet on the line between Juarez and Casas Grandes were destroyed today by Maxim Castillo, and his band of 15 federal soldiers, on the refusal of the American officials of the English and Canadian owned line to pay $10,000 for immunity from damage. Castillo and his band then moved out of the district and are reported headed for the Mexican Central railway.

MONTICELLO SEMINARY JUBILEE
Godfrey, Ill., June 3.—Monticello seminary, one of the oldest institutions in the middle west for the education of women, celebrated its 75th anniversary today. President Woolley of Mount Holyoke college delivered the anniversary address. Another feature of the program was a pageant illustrating the seminary's history and achievements.

of settlement with the operators and residents of the town.

The report continues:

"The reports of outrages perpetrated upon the defenseless miners and their families during the Glasscock administration have not in the least been exaggerated. Houses and tents were shot up indiscriminately from an armored train in the darkness of night, men were assaulted and women insulted by the dastardly mine thugs, and even little children were shot. As all these atrocious crimes against the striking miners and their families will be brought out fully in the senatorial investigation now underway and placed before the country for its edification as to the despotism of the criminal mine barons we refrain from the attempt to chronicle them in this report. Indeed we could scarcely begin to do justice to the subject without making this report far too voluminous."

The election of the legislature of West Virginia by which the report says, the mine guard system was practically abolished is said to make it possible for workers to organize without interference from "private thugs and slugs."

The report declares that in portions of West Virginia owing to alien ownership, the feudalism of the middle age still prevails over wide areas, privately owned.

MEMBERS REVERSE FORMER ACTION

Committee Votes to Place Livestock, Wheat and Oats on Free List

MEETS WILSON'S VIEWS

Vote to Reconsider Previous Action Taken After Simmon's Conference With Wilson

DISCUSS FOREIGN PROTESTS

WASHINGTON, JUNE 3.—Reversing its former action in voting to place wheat, flour, oatmeal and fresh meats on the dutiable list, the senate finance sub-committee in charge of the agricultural schedule voted late today to place livestock, wheat and oats on the free list.

This action was authoritatively stated was taken to meet the views of President Wilson, Senator Simmons, chairman of the finance committee and other administration leaders who disapproved the decision announced yesterday to tax meats 10 per cent compensatory to a duty on cattle in the Underwood bill and to assess a compensatory duty on both flour and oatmeal. The vote to reconsider taken in the sub-committee on a motion made by Senator Simmons ex-officio member of all the sub-committees handling the various tariff schedules, when he returned to the capital for a conference with the president. In this enlargement of the free list President Wilson is known to have taken a leading part as he did in the matter of raw wool and sugar before the ways and means committee. As he still is standing uncompromisingly for the wool and sugar schedules so it is declared, he will stand firmly for free cattle, sheep and hogs and free wheat and oats, now that this has been determined upon as the party policy.

Visits White House.
When the sub-committee's tentative action was announced this morning, Senator Simmons went immediately to the white house. "I told the president," he said later, "that members of the finance committee in formal conference had agreed that there should not be a tax on meats and flour. It was true that the subcommittee had taken different action but I informed the president that the majority of the finance committee felt and said we would vote instead to place cattle and other livestock and wheat and oats on the free list. This President Wilson agreed to and said it would be all right."

The inquisitorial clause of the Underwood bill which aroused foreign protest has been giving the Williams sub-committee considerable trouble and in trying to work out a modification of its provisions they have had the aid of Secretary McAdoo, Secretary Bryan and John Bassett Moore, counselor of the state department. A plan now is being discussed to combine a portion of this provision with the amendment proposed giving the secretary of the treasury the right to proclaim values, thus to have a safeguard against undue valuations and at the same time rid the provision of its features objectionable to foreign powers. The proposal to place for the first time in the country's history a tariff on raw or undressed furs has aroused loud protests from furriers and the sub-committee headed by Senator Johnson which has the sundries schedule under consideration is studying the situation. The Underwood bill proposes a rate of ten per cent on raw furs. One brief filed with the committee by Joseph Ullman of New York stated that a duty, no matter how small on raw furs, would completely destroy an international trade which United States fur merchants have built up. Fur skins are free in all foreign countries, except Russia which has a very small specific duty by weight.

The brief sets forth that under the most favorable circumstances the estimated amount of revenue from such a duty which the ways and means committee put at $1,400,000 would fall decidedly below one-half of this amount and insisted that the tariff would result in a loss to American merchants of $6,000,000 annually.

May Amend Income Tax.
It is reported tonight that the sub-committee considering the income tax has about decided to amend the bill so as to give genuine mutual life insurance companies exemption. The measure, it was said, would not be flatly amended to exempt mutual life insurance companies from the tax but provision would be made whereby such companies, after the tax has been assessed, might have an opportunity to show that their business was wholly mutual and not conducted for profit. Upon the companies would rest the burden of the proof as to whether they would be entitled to exemption.

Automobiles costing not more than $2,000 it was learned tonight will be taxed 30 per cent ad valorem instead of forty-five per cent as in the Underwood bill. This will be in the report of Senator Stone's sub-committee which considered the metal schedule and other members of the finance committee have said it would be adopted. In the meeting of the full committee another amendment may be adopted to further decrease the tax on automobiles costing less than $1,500. All automobiles costing more than $2,000, the sub-committee graded as luxuries and on them the 45 per cent rate will be retained. Cars worth $2,000 or less the sub-committee classed as necessities.

ADVANCE SUFFRAGE BILL IN THE HOUSE

WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE MEASURE AD-VANCED TO THIRD READING

Amendment Proposing That the Enacting Clause be Stricken Out is Tabled by Vote of 92 to 34—Bill Has More Strength in House Than it Had Two Years Ago.

SPRINGFIELD, JUNE 3.—With colors flying, the woman's suffrage bill passed by the senate went to third reading in the house today.

The suffrage bill was made a part of the house program today by the rules committee.

Representative Scott called it up on second reading and moved that it be advanced.

Representative McCarthy of Cook as an amendment to Scott's motion that the enacting clause be stricken out and Representative Ryan moved to table McCarthy's amendment. On a roll call the amendment was tabled by a vote of 92 to 34. Representative Dillon then offered an amendment to the bill attaching a referendum clause.

On motion of Representative Ryan this amendment was tabled by a vote of 91 to 38, after which the suffrage bill was ordered engrossed for a third reading. Under the plan of the rules committee it will be given a choice on its passage late in the session.

The vote on the suffrage bill today indicates that it has considerably more strength in the house at this session than it did two years ago.

In presenting his amendment attaching a referendum to the bill, Representative Dillon said in part:

"A false sentiment has been stirred up in Illinois for suffrage. I had little demand in my district from women or men for it."

"In the rank and file of the women of Illinois there is no demand for suffrage. The women are either opposed to it or indifferent to it."

Representative Scott made an effort to have the bill made a special order for next week but there were objections and he did not push the motion.

Fails to Receive a Majority.

The bill, abolishing capital punishment by making a murder punishable by imprisonment for not less than a year, failed to receive a constitutional majority of 77 votes and a situational majority of 62, says 63. The bill was defeated by a vote of 62 to 77. The bill amending the inheritance tax law by reducing from $20,000 to $10,000 the amount of inheritances exempt from inheritance tax.

Governor Dunne this afternoon issued an appeal to friends of the measure to be present next Thursday when the resolution providing for any amendment to the constitution so as to permit the passage of laws by the initiative and the veto of laws by the senate will be brought before the people.

The senate passed a bill permitting cities operating under the election committee act where boundaries are not co-extensive with township to hold city elections the same as township elections affects only Danville and Rockford.

Governor Makes Appointment.

Governor Dunne sent to the senate this morning for confirmation, the appointment of Robert McMurphy of Chicago, a Republican, to be minority member of the state court of claims. Mr. McMurphy is president of the Illinois State Bar association. His term of office expires on June 30.

The senate went into executive session and confirmed the appointments presented to the senate May 29 by Governor Dunne.

HITCHCOCK REPLYS TO BURLESON ATTACK

Sees Present Postmaster General's Statement for First Time at Silver City

IS KNOWN INACCURATE

Former Head of Postal Department Declares Service Never Excelled Taft Administration

NEW OFFICIALS ARE SCORED

SILVER CITY, N. M., JUNE 3.—On arriving at Silver City today from the Mongolian mountains, where he has been spending some weeks, former Postmaster General Frank H. Hitchcock was shown for the first time the statement issued a few days ago by Postmaster General Burleson attacking his administration of the postoffice department. After reading the charges, Mr. Hitchcock issued the following statement:

"A committee composed in the main of newly appointed assistants, having less than three months experience in postoffice business, attempts in a report to the present head of the department to discredit the financial showing made by the postal service under President Taft's administration. After reporting alleged discrepancies that are insignificant when compared with the great sums known to have been saved by their predecessors, this committee of novitiates proceeds in its published statement to enlighten the American people as to the character of the postal service they have been receiving.

Known to Be Inaccurate.

"Their statement is as inaccurate as it is gratuitous for the public well knows that never was the postal service conducted more efficiently, or mail handled with greater precision and dispatch, than in the closing years of the Taft administration. During that administration, nearly 5,000 new postoffices were established, delivery by letter carrier was provided in about 300 additional cities and over 3,000 new rural routes, aggregating about 75,000 miles were authorized.

"Notwithstanding these great extensions of service and the heavy increase in expenditures, they required, the postoffice department was placed on a self-sustaining basis and that was its condition when on the fourth of March, it passed into the hands of newly appointed officers, who seem to be exhausting their time and their energy in a vain attempt to detract from the record made by the devoted public servants they succeeded.

Reports Made By Treasury.

"The postal committee of a Democratic house of congress endeavored last year in a similar manner to attack the audited accounts of the postal service but after investigation that committee was fair enough to admit that the department had become substantially self-sustaining. The returns as to surplus or deficit are made up not by the postoffice department but by the treasury department, where all postal income is received and all postal accounts finally audited.

"The secretary of the treasury reported the wiping out of the postal deficit the record thus certified to in his fiscal report is likely to stand in history. If the investigation department could have received a proper allowance for the cost of carrying franked mail, the postal surplus would have been much larger than that recorded and this is true after deducting the expense incurred on account of the postal service by the treasury department for the free quartering of certain postoffices in federal buildings an expense that is less than half the cost of the franking privilege. In the fiscal year 1912, more than 300 million pieces of mail, having an aggregate weight of about 61,000,000 pounds were carried free of charge under the franking of congressmen and of the various government establishments. If postage at the usual rates had been paid on this matter it is estimated that the postal revenues would have been increased by more than $20,000,000.

Will Save Millions a Year.

"In the last administration we appealed in vain to a Democratic house for legislation abolishing the franking abuse. It is a subject that the present postal management might well consider, for it affords an opportunity to save the department millions of dollars a year. But judging from the committee's report as published in the press the gentlemen now in charge of postal duties seem more interested in disclosing the fact that during the four years preceding March 4th an average of thirty-four clerkships per annum remained vacant in the department.

"The United States postal service comprises altogether more than 300,000 officers and men. It is the largest business organization in the world. It expends annually about $250,000,000 and now takes in approximately that amount in postal receipts. It requires a high order of business ability and the closest

SHOWS ATTITUDE TOWARD CORPORATION

ATTITUDE OF ROOSEVELT ADMINI-STRATION TOWARD STEEL CO. SHOWN

Judge Gary as Witness for Defense in Government Suit to Dissolve Corporation Introduces Heretofore Unpublished Letter From Former Commissioner of Corporations, Garfield.

NEW YORK, JUNE 3.—Judge Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation threw some interesting light to day on the attitude of the Roosevelt administration toward the corporation when the president ordered the bureau of corporations to investigate it in 1905 an inquiry which has been going on ever since. As a witness for the defense in the government suit to dissolve the corporation, Judge Gary introduced into evidence a heretofore unpublished letter from former commissioner of corporations, Garfield which contained a memorandum of a meeting between President Roosevelt, Secretary Metcalf of the department of commerce and labor, Commissioner Garfield and Judge Gary in November, 1905.

This memorandum quoted Commissioner Garfield as saying that the object of the proposed investigation "is to afford the president full information of all the facts relating to the organization, conduct and management of the corporation upon which recommendations of legislation might be made."

"The president spoke of the question of over capitalization," the memorandum continued, "not as applying directly to the steel corporation but generally and stated that it is of course, usually impossible to undo that which has already been done, but that on this as well as upon other matters, the work of the bureau is for the present and the future. In answer Judge Gary stated that if from the facts obtained Mr. Garfield was satisfied that the United States Steel corporation was over capitalized, it would be his duty so to state and that the steel corporation could not be punished in any more severe way than by such publicity."

Judge Gary introduced the letter in connection with testimony that the corporation had thrown its books open to the government investigators and had never refused any information asked. It was upon the information thus furnished it was brought out that the bureau of corporations based its several reports upon the corporation that have been published from time to time.

"Hundreds of thousands of dollars had been spent by the corporation," the witness said, in collecting this information.

OREGON HAS 10-HOUR DAY.

Portland, Ore., June 3.—A law establishing the 10 hour day as the maximum time that a person may be employed in any mill or manufacturing establishment in Oregon went into effect today.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

Washington, June 3.—For Illinois: Fair Wednesday and probably Thursday; light variable winds.

Kind of application on the part of the various officers in charge to conduct successfully a public service so extensive and so intricate.

Will Have Considerable Task.

"The question may very naturally present itself in the public mind as to why the present officers of the department instead of consuming all this time in an endeavor to discredit the good work of the men they succeeded are not devoting themselves more attentively to the important branches of the services entrusted to their care, even if they are thus far unable in their inexperience to maintain and execute a constructive postal program so as to broaden still further the usefulness of the postoffice. They will doubtless find it a considerable task and one requiring their strict attention to maintain throughout the vast country the efficiency of the postal service as developed and extended by their predecessors and particularly of those great branches of the service recently established for the benefit of the people by a Republican administration, the postal savings bank and the parcel post."

WOMAN'S COLLEGE FUND HAS BEEN COMPLETED

ANNOUNCEMENT MADE AT CON-VOCATION IN HONOR OF PRESI-DENT HARKER.

Students Lead in Demonstration Celebrating the Achievement—Representative Men Joined in Expressing Admiration for the Work of College President Who Has Accomplished Great Things in Twenty Years.

The People of Jacksonville and Morgan county joined last night in paying honors to President Joseph R. Harker of Illinois Woman's college, commemorating the twentieth year of his work there and the splendid achievement of completing the campaign for $100,000 endowment with success. At was announced at 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon that the fund had been raised and so when the audience assembled in the evening the girls led in an enthusiastic demonstration.

Paid Tribute to Two Women.
Dr. T. J. Pitner, president of the board of trustees, presided and he said that Dr. Harker would have to be permitted a few words and that the president would doubtless give a chalk talk. Then Dr. Harker marked off on the blackboard all the squares but two. He reserved one of these for Mrs. Lambert to check off as he said that to her was a large

President of Illinois Woman's College. He has just rounded out twenty years in the management of the college. His work and his vision have given the college its splendid growth. Prominent men last night branded him a giant in educational work.

measure of the success of the campaign due and that she had stood with him undaunted throughout the long struggle. The last square was for Mrs. Harker, "the one woman without whom none of the work of the past twenty years would have been done." Dr. Harker thus paid tribute to Mrs. Lambert, who has so loyally assisted in the campaign work, and to Mrs. Harker, whose loving heart, helpful service and wise judgment have furnished inspiration for his work.

With Miss Miller at the piano the girls sang a song of victory and triumph, attesting their love for the college and their joy in the completion of the fund. Then the whole audience joined in singing the college song.

Various Interests Represented.

Judge F. E. Baldwin, who appeared on behalf of the citizens of Jacksonville; President James of the University of Illinois, who spoke in behalf of the educational interests of the state; Dr. A. C. Pierson of Springfield, who represented the Illinois conference, and Dr. Thomas Nicholson of New York city, representing the Methodistism of the Nation, made up the announced program. A speaker not on the program of the occasion was W. A. Rankin of Onarga. Mr. Rankin is very wealthy in houses and lands and is greatly interested in Methodist educational institutions. He never gives much to institutions where he is convinced that a college is worthy and will grow he likes to put in money. Last night he talked for fifteen minutes in a very plain and captivating way confessing that he had seen the Woman's college for the first time and that he was certain of its great possibilities. He got clear up to the point of making a liberal subscription to start a further endowment fund for the college, several times, but each time branched off on some story and finally sat down without telling the audience exactly what he proposes to do. Perhaps he will make that known today and at any rate it is certain that he is going to do something fine for the college.

Dr. Pitner presided admirably as chairman and after the other speakers had finished, paid his personal tribute to Dr. Harker, whom he considered a man called of God to great and noble work.

The College and Community.
The first speaker was Judge F. E.
Baldwin, whose theme was "Illinois Woman's College and the Community." He said in part:

"The advance of the Illinois Woman's College as an institution of real culture and learning has been so quiet, so dignified, that like the Bedouin sitting among the ruins of Edoms, heedless of splendor and magnificence of Diana's temple, and thinking only of his goats and pigs, we have been intent in our own affairs, little regarding the wonderful growth of our Woman's College and but vaguely appreciating the ability of this truly great man whose untiring effort have reared in our own city one of the best woman's colleges in this fair land. I doubt not that the people of other communities have a higher sense of appreciation of this school and of its president than have we who ought to be so familiar with its purposes and so proud of its accomplishments. Therefore we should welcome this opportunity to get better acquainted with what Dr.

Harker and the Illinois Woman's College have been doing and what they aim to do.

"Since this college was founded more than half a century ago, it has been a vital factor in every good cause advanced in our city, and it has grown in power and influence with the years, until more words can but feebly estimate its real worth to our community. We can easily estimate its commercial worth, because we can easily ascertain that it spends annually in our city more than one hundred thousand dollars, and in addition to this probably one half as much more is spent in our city each school year by its students and the parents who come here to live so that their children may have its educational advantages. We can readily calculate the great increase in the value of its physical property, now worth nearly five hundred thousand dollars. We can not avoid observing the erection of new college buildings, the increasing faculty, the growing annual attendance. We can not be unmindful of the material growth of our college, because it has unfolded beneath our very eyes, but need I say that it is not the dead walls of these stately buildings, not the inanimate books, the silent musical instruments, not the material equipment alone that goes to make up a great educational institution such as we have here? It is the teaching of truth that makes a school great. Here it is that everlasting truths are taught, and the changing throng of happy and carefree young women who pass beneath its portals. This is what makes our Woman's College really great. And when I ask you the question, who is it that is chiefly responsible for its greatness? You instantly discern the answer: it is that modest, though intensely courageous, that quiet, yet wonderful capable, man of God, President Harker. And I know that I speak for every citizen in our community who has a spark of gratitude in his make up when I say that we ungrudgingly gladly acknowledge our lasting obligation to that lover of truth who during almost a quarter of a century has faced and solved the problems of our college, who has brought to every question a calm serene mind, who has been true to his ideal always, who has kept the faith, who has just won a notable victory, but who he had just begun to fight. We proudly do homage to President Harker and we pledge to him our unwavering loyalty. We will not de-lude ourselves with the belief that now since the campaign for endowment has been successful, our interest and our duty is at an end. But we will confidently face the future, full of hope and faith, and with Dr. Harker as our leader, we will build here a Woman's College greater and grander than even he now dreams of.

Dr. James on Educational Interests.
Dr. Pitner then introduced Dr.
Edmund James, president of the University of Illinois, mentioning the fact that Dr. James was born in this city and that his father was one of the early and best friends of the college. President James said in part:

"I am especially glad to come to Jacksonville on an educational errand. I wonder sometimes if people here have not forgotten how important a place this city has had in the educational history of the state. I am glad to have a chance to speak to these young women on educational matters. Educational development in Illinois was slow in coming.
It took Illinois many years to pass an educational law. We complain sometimes of recent legislatures but it is true that more than sixty years ago this state diverted to other channels, the federal money given for education. The wrong was not rectified for forty years.

"I am not so very old and I was born the year that the first effective school law went on the books of this state. I began my teaching in Evanston and I remember that in those days a common question for debate was, 'Resolved, The high schools should be abolished.' No doubt Dr. Harker has often been asked what is the use of keeping up the private or special schools in view of the fine system of public institutions now established.

"I do not believe the state will get the best service out of its university until a larger number of well equipped colleges prepare for university work. I do not think a young man should enter a university law school until he has finished a good college education. I never hesitate to say to young people from college towns, get your college education at home and come to the university afterward. As it is now the first two years include only college work, but the time should come when this is not the case. This college here does a great service to the M. E. church and does it without hurting other churches. Dr. Harker in his travels has been a great educational missionary preaching the value of higher education. I believe that experience shows that no exclusive state system of education nor any exclusive church education can satisfy or do the best work. Public education tends to be mediocre and one of the greatest dangers of the public school is the standard of mediocrity which the average resident insists upon. Any pupil whose behavior is good can go to the schools as long as it is necessary for him to finally graduate. There are too defects in the private schools. Out of the two must come the system that is best. I cannot close without expressing my opinion of Dr. Harker. He is a wonder and I doubt if he is appreciated here in Jacksonville and in this state. With six such men I could in five years overturn the educational system of Illinois. A great work has been done here and I can truthfully call him a giant in accomplishments.

College and Conference.
Rev. A. C. Piersol, D. D., of Springfield was introduced to speak upon "The Relation of Illinois Woman's College to the Illinois Conference." After some very lively introductory remarks, the speaker said among other things "When Solomon told us his temple the Lord told us to forget the lily work of the columns. So in education it is well not to forget the lily work of the columns. The time was when we thought that the colleges should provide our daughters only culture and accomplishments. To day we approve these things but consider the day of the college has arrived and that woman's work in a mighty sense stands as the column of civilization and not as the lily work. Woman need not go out into the byways and highways but if the women of this state presented united front for needed legislation that legislation would be secured. Woman can inspire practically all the reforms that are needed."

"Our Sunday school lessons recently have been about Joseph and now he was rescued from the well and ascended to the position next to the throne. So our Joseph Harker came from the well of preparation in a coal mine and was raised up to this throne of power as president of this college. He is nothing short of a great leader and is doing magnificent work. It is not the function of the conference to copyright this college but to underwrite and guarantee it and to spread abroad its good name and influence into other states."

Dr. Nicholson says "Forward." After a delightful duet arranged for two pianos and played with ability by Misses Ruth Matlock and Maud Willard, Dr. Harker presented Dr. Thomas Nicholson, secretary of the board of education of the Methodist church whose theme was "The Relation of Illinois Woman's College to Methodism and the Nation."

The speaker first expressed the debt that the college and the board of education had in the presence of Dr. James. He said that it was a great cause for thanksgiving that a man of such caliber is at the head of Illinois university. "President James," he said "is rich in saving common sense. I join most heartily in what Dr. James said about President Harker and have become more convinced on this visit than before how great is the work Dr. Harker has done and is doing and that this city does not have any true appreciation of the force of the man or the value of his services. Nor does this city have any true conception of the debt the community owes to this college. No nation in history has risen higher than the standard of its women. The value of an institution like this is unestimable to the churches. Note the large per cent of the membership of our churches. Women predominate. Has there been any large church building erected that women have not helped in large degree. Where is the college which has grown without the aid of women? In the church to day the strongest army is the women's foreign missionary society. Follow it all the way through the church and you will find the best work done by women. The same is true in social life. Where is the man among us who amounts to anything who will not tell you that his wife has been his inspiration.

"To day the Woman's college is fitting women for the duties of life. The college is fitting women for the church and for the nation. If this college in one hundred years produces one woman the equal of Frances Willard, a Maud Ballington Booth it will have repaid for every dollar expended. The tribute which the great Abraham Lincoln said of his mother might be said with equal truth of the mother of each one of us. It is a great thing that this college is free from debt and is to have $100,000 endowment. But this college must go on and secure a larger fund if its full influence is to come. Let us take a look at past and present and then press forward."

Mr. Rankin is Still "Thinking."
The audience was all interested when Dr. Nicholson introduced his friend W. A. Rankin of Onarga. Mr. Rankin who speaks very quietly and deliberately has a very droll humor underlying his forceful sentences. He said he was neither a speaker nor a philanthropist, but just a plain stingy old business man. Parting with money he said was a difficult matter some times and he did not like to do it unless he knew that it would bring in good returns. He said that Dr. Harker had for a long time been trying to get him to visit the college and while he had never been asked for any money he had a well defined suspicion that Dr. Harker thought he would give some money to the college if he ever looked it over. Then the speaker went on to make the welcome confession that half had not been told him about the college and that it really looked to him like the best place he had seen for putting some money. He said he was mighty glad he did not have to help in finishing up the $180,000 fund and suggested while it was necessary to raise that fund that the college was not on safe ground by any means and that to fulfill its destiny that more money must be forth coming. He said he felt like making Dr. Harker a pledge as a start for further endowment but he had not quite made up his mind yet. "It's a hard business, to give away money and I can't do it with ease. It looks to me though that this is a real chance to put money where it will do some good—and I am thinking about doing it." With this remark the speaker sat down and the audience breathed normally again and felt a trifle disappointed.

President Harker was called upon and responded only with a few words. He said he would not be human did not not appreciate the tributes that had been paid to him. He said that he and Mrs. Harker had found delight in their work and that they had accomplished whatever they had accomplished by divine guidance.

Dr. Pinner so long associated with President Harker in the work of the college in well chosen words expressed his admiration and love for President Harker and the exercises were at an end.

GAVE ICE CREAM SOCIAL.
An ice cream social was held at Shiloh church Tuesday evening, which was attended by a large crowd. The people of the church realized quite a neat sum from the social and are deserving of great credit for the successful manner in which it was carried out.

ALUMNAE IN ANNUAL SESSIONFORMER STUDENTS OF I. W. C.
MEET.Business Gathering Held in Morning Followed by Luncheon—Splendid Addresses Heard With Mrs. Grace Calhoun as Toastmistress.

The reunion of alumnae and former students of the Woman's college brought together a large company of women who came from the east and the west and the north and the south to share the unusual events of the commencement season.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Edward C. Lambert, who introduced Mrs. Nellie DeMotte Brown to lead in the service of devotion. The lesson and the thought given by Mrs. Brown was that of leaving power of educated christian womanhood, in giving uplift to the community the mass.

The treasurer's report was given by Miss Anna Reid, audited by Miss Ethel Wylder.

The class of 1913 was presented by the class officer, Miss Neville. Miss Hortense Corbett spoke the words of welcome receiving the graduates of the college and the special schools in to membership in the association to which Miss Golden Berryman responded.

The personal history of the alumnae, full of interesting items was given by Miss Louise Gates. This was followed by a report from the president of the effort of the alumnae and former students to assist in the raising of the $180,000 fund for endowment and improvement. Mention was made of the I. W. C. meetings held in various cities during the spring and among the many gifts received, one of $10.00 from "one of the alumnae," received special recognition, the college song being sung in honor of the generous donor.

Mrs. John N. Ward, treasurer of the Alumnae memorial scholarship fund, gave a most inspiring report showing that over $20,000 had been added to the scholarship being raised in honor of the college president.

The election for trustees resulted in retaining in office Mrs. Jennie Kinman Ward and Mrs. Mary Callahan Mercer.

Mrs. James T. King presented the suggestion of her committee for the amendment of the by-laws in several particulars. The matter was referred for consideration next year.

Associate members of the alumnae society were elected as follows: Mrs. E. C. Brady of Chicago; Mrs. Edward Clifford, Evanston; Miss Amelia Elsom of St. Louis; Miss Ruth Buxton of Olathe, Kansas.

Greetings from the alumnae of the academy were brought by Miss Marie Fairbanks, who spoke with efforts made in behalf of the endowment fund.

Dr. Nicholson of New York and President Harker each spoke of the future possibilities for the college and the part the alumnae might have in its further advancement.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows:
President—Mrs. Thomas Buckthorpe.
First vice-president—Mrs. Thomas Hopper.
Second vice-president—Mrs. F. A. McCarty.
Third vice-president—Miss Ethel Wylder.
Recorder—Mrs. J. Paschall.
Treasurer—Mrs. Anna Reid.

Alumnae Banquet.
The luncheon of the alumnae was held in the dining room of the college. Each table was decorated with a banquet of flowers and the menu served was excellent. Mrs. E. C. Lambert introduced the toastmistress of the occasion, Mrs. Grace Ward Calhoun of the class of 1895, a position she filled in a most fitting manner, much to the delight of the large number in attendance.

Mrs. Alice McElroy Griffith of the class of 1852 spoke of the department of "Liberal Arts." She said in part:

"Sixty-one years have come and gone since I said good-bye to the Illinois Conference Female college, President Jacques and my six classmates. Many changes mark the then and the now. Then it was a new institution with fifty girls. As yet we had no college building and school met in the basement of Cent-tenary church. In these days we girls thought old Peter Cartwright was the prime mover, maybe because we saw and heard more of him and were impressed with his unique character." The speaker made a concise review of how the college was founded and of the different presidents who had served the institutions. She told of the personality of the seven members of the class and an account of the graduating exercises. Mrs. Griffith closed by paying a high tribute to Dr. Harker.

At the close of the excellent paper Dr. Nicholson proposed that all drink to the health of Mrs. Griffith, which was done, and "Blest be the Tie That Binds" was sung.

Mrs. Annie Lewis Gist of the class of 1884, also of department of "Liberal Arts," spoke next. Mrs. Gist described the trip she made to the bi-annual meeting of the Federation of Woman's clubs in which meeting an old lady was led to the front of the platform and stated how she would love to see everyone face to face but the physical eye was weak, but the vision could be seen through the eye of faith. The most valuable asset to the Woman's college is the dreamer; the dreamer gave us all the great things of the world. Nothing comes in the world without struggle, things come to us after years of toil. We have an opportunity to display an essential of true greatness by embracing our opportunities to help the college.

Mrs. Fama Reynolds Inglebach of the class of 1897 spoke for the expression department of the college. In coming back to the college we feel as though we were coming back home. Going home sometimes is sad because the house is deserted, weeds are in the yard and the loved ones have gone. But not so with our home coming here for its brighter and more beautiful spot. Sometimes it is the small thing which comes into our lives which changes our whole course. Ever striving for the highest ideal brings us to a goal devoutly to be coveted.

After a delightful piano solo by Miss Ruth Widenham of the class of 1912, Mrs. William Woods King of the class of 1879 spoke for the "Domestic Science" department. She stated that her real subject was "Women in the Home." Our grandparents lived to a good old age and never fought microbes, germs and paid little attention to sanitary laws. Today the graduates stand ready to master those problems. We must recognize the worth of the pioneer mother, for through her we find the ideal woman of today. Mrs. King referred to the fact that just twenty years ago she acted as toastmistress at the time Dr. Harker was first introduced to the alumnae as the new president. In appropriate language she told of the work and worth of Dr. and Mrs. Harker to the institution.

In a most cleverly thought out address, Miss Norma Virgin of the class of 1909 represented the art department. The college department was represented by Miss Jessie Kennedy of the class of 1911. President Harker spoke on "Our Future College." He said that a college needed something aside from money—it needed students. A great work lies before every former student and friend of the college, that of telling of the school here. In looking toward an ideal let us not forget the path that lies between. Dr. Nicholson was heard in a few brief remarks and he introduced Dr. W. A. Rankin, a member of the board of education, who spoke of the great pleasure it afforded him of being present.

Mrs. Grace Woods Jess next favored the association with two songs and an encore as follows: "I Once Loved a Boy," Alice Needham; "Shadow March," Del Riego; "The Rose Dream," Mary Helen Brown. The banquet was concluded by singing the "Alumnae Song," composed by Mrs. Martha Capps Oliver of the class of 1862.

WOODSON ODD FELLOWS
CELEBRATE 31ST ANNIVERSARY.

Address, Music and Social Good Time Make Annual 2nd off June Observance a Most Enjoyable One.

The Odd Fellows of Woodson celebrated the 31st anniversary of their organization Monday evening at an open meeting in their hall from 8 until 12. An address was made by the Rev. Hy S. Alkire of Jacksonville and music was furnished by a quartette consisting of Misses Ione, Meda, Mae and Ruth Gallagher. Over 125 Odd Fellows, Rebekahs and others of the family of those belonging to these orders took part in the occasion. The refreshments which were served after the musical and literary part of the program consisted of ice cream and cake and bananas.

The meeting was opened by a prayer by Rev. Mr. Coleman of the Presbyterian church of Woodson. The address by Rev. Mr. Alkire was entitled "Stepmothers." In it the minister brought out the idea that secret societies such as the Odd Fellows are veritable stepmothers to the human race. He spoke something of the history of the organization and complimented it on its present attainments.

There was present at this celebration one of the charter members of the Woodson Odd Fellows, Theobald Fitzsimmons, who presided.

ERROR CORRECTED.

Editor Journal: There was a slight error about Dr. Elbert Wing in your article on Morgan county physicians. He was the nephew, not of Dr. George Jones, but of his wife. She was the sister of Drs. Frederick and Henry Wing. The former was the father of Elbert and Horace Wing, and also of Mrs. Harry Easter, now of El Paso, Texas, and Miss Emily Wing of Los Angeles, Calif. Horace died several years ago.

Dr. Henry Wing was the father of Dr. Edgar Wing for many years a practicing physician in this city, but now of Galesburg, Ill.

I believe the five Drs. Wing were all graduates, certainly students, of Illinois college.

SUFFERED TORMENT WITH ECZEMA

For Many Years. On Thigh. Also on Scalp. Awful Itching Skin. Could Not Sleep. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Completely Cured.

Lebanon, O.—"My eczema started on my thigh with a small pimple. It also came on my scalp. It began to itch and I began to scratch. For eighteen or twenty years I could not tell what I passed through with that awful itching. I would scratch until the blood would soak through my underwear, and I couldn't talk to my friends on the street but I would be digging and punching that spot, until I was very much ashamed. The itching was so intense I could not sleep after once in bed and warm. I certainly suffered torment with that eczema for many years. I chased after everything I ever heard of, all to no avail. I saw the advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a sample. Imagine my delight when I applied the first dose to that awful itching fire on my leg and scalp, in less than a minute the itching on both places ceased. I got some more Cuticura Soap and Ointment. After the second day I never had another itching spell, and Cuticura Soap and Ointment completely cured me. I was troubled with awful dandruff all over my scalp. The Cuticura Soap has cured that trouble." (Signed) L. R. Fink, Jan. 22, 1912. Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are sold throughout the world. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston." Tender-faced men should use Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick, 25c. Sample free.

A Traveling Man Cured

P. B. Counterman, a traveling man of Joplin, Mo., writes: Twelve years ago I was a great sufferer from stomach trouble. I tried nearly every medicine I could hear of, among them I used fifteen bottles of one popular preparation, but never found anything that did me any permanent good. I took Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, which have effected a permanent cure. It has now been five years since I took these tablets, and I have had no more stomach trouble during that time. I have recommended Chamberlain's Tablets to a great many sufferers with stomach trouble, and traveling salesmen, and have met many of the boys on the road that are afflicted with disorders of the stomach as they have to put up with all kinds of half cooked grub at the different country hotels, which is one cause of this dreadful disease.

THE POWER OF STEAM. Many May See But It Takes Genius to Realize.

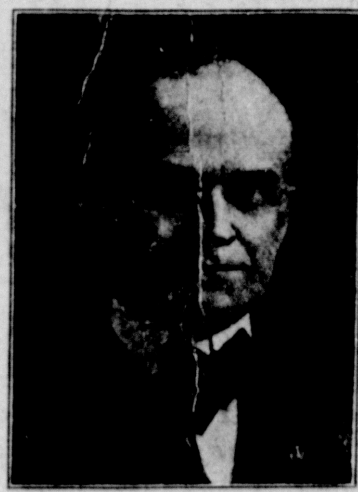

When James Watt saw the steam causing the kettle lid to jump up and down he said "There must be power in that steam that it can lift such a weight." There was. Millen prior to him had seen the same phenomenon and regarded it as an unexplained mystery. Recent scientific research has put its finger on the "cause" of the lifting power of steam. It is the fact that the steam expands and contracts, and the consequent expansion and contraction of the steam causes it to lift the lid. Herpelde destroys this germ and consequently restores the hair to its natural state. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpelde Co., Detroit, Mich.

YEAR'S WORK CLOSES AT SCHOOL FOR BLIND

ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES WERE HELD TUESDAY AFTERNOON.

Address Was Delivered by Dr. F. P. Norbury, Alienist of State Board of Administration—Supt. Woolston Presented Diplomas to Four Graduates.

The graduating exercises of the State School for the Blind were held Tuesday afternoon, the chapel being filled by an audience gathered to witness the interesting exercises. The address of the occasion was delivered by Dr. Frank P. Norbury, alienist of the Illinois State Board of Administration, whose theme was "The Genetic Philosophy of Education." It was a very scholarly address, presenting as it did certain deep problems underlying education.

DR. F. P. NORBURY, Alienist Illinois State Board of Administration.

In a way which was plain to the average auditor. The graduates were John F. Fitzgerald of Utica, Alvin P. Gillick of Chesterfield, Esther Veronica Herren of East St. Louis and Laura May Howe of Moweaqua. The diplomas were presented the graduates by Supt. R. W. Woolston, who referred to the advantages the state affords its young people and expressed the hope that the graduates would fulfill their highest work in life by giving service to others. Dr. Post offered a prayer before the formal program and the benediction. The musical program was as follows and it was most excellently given: Orchestra—Wedding Day at Troldehaugen. Grieg Organ—Triumphal March. Costa Voice—The Erl King. Schubert Esther Herren.

Piano—(a) Nocturne, Op. 12. Leschetizky (b) Valse, Op. 64, No. 1. Chopin Claude Rynders.

Chorus—(a) The Peddler. Williams (b) Infamistatus (stabat Mater). Rossini (Soprano obligato by Sophia Morris) Miss Alice Mathis acted acceptably as accompanist.

Some paragraphs from Dr. Norbury's address are given herewith:

Darwin's Work. "In 1908 the Cambridge Philosophical society suggested, as a fit commemoration of the Centenary of the birth of Charles Darwin, that a series of essays be published, addressed primarily to laymen, rather than experts, to serve the purpose of showing the far reaching influence of Darwin's work on the progress of human knowledge. That he, above all men, changed the current of scientific thought, extending far beyond the ordinary recognized range of biology is evidenced in the modern accepted opinions which invade the dominions of the humanities, viz: Education, psychology, social science, ethics, philosophy and religion. The volume of essays published under the title of "Darwin and Modern Science," cover exhaustively, in review, and streams of thought emanating from this epoch working era in the history of scientific knowledge.

Each one of these fertile fields yields fascinating interest for the earnest student, because the history of man's intellectual progress is interwoven with the correlation of all of these divisions of thought. Each is the complement of the other and in the united whole is found the index of educational progress.

"Few men have in a greater measure enriched the thought environment which it is the aim of education to bring educable human beings into vital contact than Charles Darwin." The spirit and method of his inquiry was vital and transforming and in education and the humanities, in which we are especially interested, the most characteristic results are to be found.

If time permitted I would like to consider more in detail this genetic science, the outgrowth of the combination of natural science and philosophy. My excursions, however, will be into psychology, the realm of biology and social science. It is fitting, therefore, that in introducing the subject, "The Genetic Philosophy of Education," that we pay tribute to the memory of this great man to whom has been applied Hazlitt's Aphorism. "When the pursuit of truth has been the habitual study of any man's life, the love of truth will be his ruling passion." Darwin was a seeker after truth and his truths have grown; his influence for good extended, as the receding years have added to their realities. Especially is this true in the application of genetic science as shown in the life history of man.

The Nervous System. Let us first speak of the evolution of the nervous system showing how, in its slow development, living creatures have reacted to the various stimuli of their environment. It is the evolution of the nervous system which has made possible the development of intellectual life. "The brain and spinal cord, though they have much to do with the control of the body, sharing that task with the great sympathetic nervous system, are mainly concerned with sensations derived from the environment and actions that relate thereto." The brain, being in close connection with the organs of sense, becomes the seat of rational powers, while the spinal cord is allotted, in large part, to the reflex or automatic actions which relate to sensations.

You all know, from a biological point of view, as from all other points of view, that the brain of man is the most important organ, distinguishing him from all other forms of animal life. The brain is the organ of the mind and on it rests all the possibilities of higher intellectual development. The creation, or rather elaboration, of the brain gave to man what may be called a "third nervous system." The human brain is distinct in character and action and sets man apart from all other back-boned or vertebrate animals. Its distinction lies in its capacity and provision for intellectual work in relation to environment.

"Education, biologically considered, is the whole effect of environment. Man's intellectual progress is the result of reactions of environment, through reason, projected onto his environment. It is at once apparent that, with the human brain as the organ of the mind, and the human body, with its special anatomical construction and adjustments, the best of the will of man can be executed and he becomes rational, as well as an instinctive being in his methods of action. By this, I mean reason, within the limitations of course, of each individual's capacity, caters to direct the conduct of the individual.

Darwin of Genetic Methods.

The dawn of reason in man was the dawn of genetic methods of education and, as intelligence slowly ascended towards the more refined rational ways of thinking, doing and feeling, man entered the dominion of reasoning intelligence he occupies today. The ascent from the ancient instinctive type of mind to that of rational quality, denoted the fact that experience is brought into critical adjustment and slowly these adjustments evolved or developed the growth of motives of action and of thought, out of which grew human sympathy. The sympathetic motives are found in lower vertebrate animals, especially shown in birds, but no wide range of sympathy or rapid development of it is attained until we reach man. In man, this growth of the sympathetic motives is made the basis of his educational moral development, his religious ideals, his position as a citizen and the bonds he makes for himself in human society. Sympathy is the basis of associated endeavor; the basis of culture in the individual man and of society, of which he forms a part. It measures environment, both in ancient motives as revealed in instinct and modern motives, as found in true intellectual culture of today. In other words it is a basic factor in education and is a measure of the quality of the man, because sympathy, genetically considered, goes directly against self-interest; it leads to self-sacrifice, which, in principle at least, is directly opposed to the belief in the survival of the fittest.

It is the expansion of human sympathies that marked man "as made in the image of his maker" and, as the plane of thought has risen humanly, with their wide range of sympathetic intelligence, the spirit of love informs about and points the way to the ideal goal in human thoughts. Love awakens perceptions and, in unifying sympathies and intelligence, makes us aware that about us, in the very environment in which we live, there are others who feel for and with us; there are others who have experienced the same vicissitudes of fate and of fortune and, whose experience and love help to assuage the evil of our own experience, helping us when we need help, guiding us when we need guidance and consoling us in the final passage to the eternity beyond. This means emancipation from self-hood, the growth of true sympathy, and is provocative of the great test of all conduct the "brothers keeper test."

You ask, what has this to do with the genetic philosophy of education? I would answer, it is the central theme—the highest aim of all education. Following truly Darwinian methods, we arrive at this conclusion, that the purpose of education "is to bring each individual, according to his kind, to the fullest possible maturity and to develop in each those ideals by which the interests of the future generations will best be served."

Dr. Hall's Theory. Dr. G. Stanley Hall has most consistently worked out this genetic theory of man's intellectual development, showing that the genetic principle is coming into its rights. Baldwin says, "If we look upon philosophy as simply the broadest and unified view that we can get of the world, as a whole, it is evident that our task will be to set together the results reached by the sciences of fact and value."

The science of education in its progress, like the science of biology and science of psychology, has developed a philosophy coming within the definition of philosophy as given by Baldwin. In other words, the science of education in its philosophy provides interpretation of facts, in the broadest and most unified interpretations by the evolution the

JAMES E. MUNROE OF CHICAGO PASSES AWAY

Was a Member of the Class of 1868 of Illinois College—Married Miss Kate B. Smith of This City.

Mrs. Laura A. Kellogg received news Tuesday of the passing away of her brother-in-law, Mr. James E. Munroe of Chicago. Mr. Munroe had been in very poor health for some months, and the end was not unexpected.

James E. Munroe was a son of Dr. Thomas and Mrs. Annis Hinman Munroe of Rushville, where he was born about 1848. He there obtained his preparatory education and came to Illinois college in the fall of 1865, entered the Sigma Pi, of which he was a president, and was graduated June 4, 1868. He was equipped with a remarkably fine mind and received high honors in his class. After graduation Mr. Munroe read law with the Hon. John C. Bagley, afterwards a circuit judge and member of congress. After reading law and being admitted to the bar, Mr. Munroe went to Chicago, about 1870, and entered the law office of the Hon. William C. Goudy, one of the great lawyers of the state and of the country. Later on he was in the same office with the Hon. Frank A. Riddle and John Scott Stevens, and was then a member of the firm of Munroe and Geer. He retired from this partnership about 1890 and has since practiced law alone, until lately, when he took his nephew, Paul Noyes, into association in business.

Mr. Munroe became one of the ablest and most successful lawyers in Chicago, also practicing before the state and national supreme courts. He was also fortunate in some outside business investments. He was for some time an attorney for the Armour interests, and was high up in real estate lines. Mr. Munroe became acquainted with Miss Kate B. Smith, daughter of the late David A. Smith of this city, and sister of Mrs. L. A. Kellogg and Mr. Hugh B. Smith. Mr. Munroe and Miss Smith were united in marriage October 25, 1876. They have been the parents of a son, Edward, now engaged in business in Chicago, and Miss Annis Munroe, at home with her parents.

Mr. Munroe was descended on his father's side from a prominent Maryland family, and Dr. Thomas Munroe was one of the pioneer physicians of Jacksonville, from whence he removed to Rushville, about 1840. Dr. Munroe was surgeon of an Illinois regiment during the civil war, an educated man, and truly a southern gentleman. He was prominent in church and loved for his amiable qualities. While living here Dr. Munroe stood up with Gov. Richard Yates in 1839, when the latter was married to Miss Catharine Geers. Mrs. Dr. Munroe, nee Miss Hinman, belonged to a distinguished New York and Connecticut family on her father's side and on her mother's side she was a member of a prominent Knickerbocker family. Mrs. Munroe's brother, Gen. Wm. Hinman, was one of the early and prominent lawyers of Rushville, this state.

James E. Munroe is survived by his wife and children and by his sister, Miss Mary Munroe, and brothers, Charles and Hinman, of Rushville, and William of Muskegon, Mich.

Mr. Munroe had no taste for things outside of his profession and probably hastened his end by his unremitting attention to business, in which he had been successful above the average.

The sympathies of many acquaintances here and of college friends of Mr. Munroe, will go out to his family at this time of their bereavement.

KING GEORGE'S BIRTHDAY. London, June 3.—King George today celebrated his 48th birthday anniversary at Buckingham palace, surrounded by his family. In honor of the occasion the Union Jack was hoisted over all government offices, and at noon a royal salute was fired in St. James' park. The ships of the royal navy were dressed, and, with the forts at naval stations and army garrisons, fired salutes.

DANIES TAKS AT WAR COLLEGE. Newport, R. I., June 3.—Secretary of the Navy Daniels visited the naval war college here today and delivered an address at the opening of the summer course of instruction at the institution.

Comparative Digestibility of Food

Made with different Baking Powders

From a Series of Elaborate Chemical Tests:

An equal quantity of bread (biscuit) was made with each of three different kinds of baking powder—cream of tartar, phosphate, and alum—and submitted separately to the action of the digestive fluid, each for the same length of time.

The relative percentage of the food digested is shown as follows:

Bread made with
Royal Cream of Tartar Powder:
100 Per Cent. Digested

Bread made with
phosphate powder:
68 1/4 Per Cent. Digested

Bread made with alum powder:
67 3/4 Per Cent. Digested

These tests, which are absolutely reliable and unprejudiced, make plain a fact of great importance to everyone: Food raised with Royal, a cream of tartar Baking Powder, is shown to be entirely digestible, while the alum and phosphate powders are found to largely retard the digestion of the food made from them.

Undigested food is not only wasted food, but it is the source of very many bodily ailments.

The Warmer the Weather

TEST OF AUTOMOBILES PULLING-POWER
The local agent of a well-known car in Los Angeles, California, recently gave a demonstration of the pulling strength of his machine by attaching it, by means of a rope running from the rear axle of the car to the pilot of a hundred-and-ten-ton locomotive, and drawing the locomotive along the track. The start was made from a dead standstill, and it was at first thought impossible to move the mass of iron and steel, as the wheels of the car slipped badly and the locomotive seemed to be glued to the track. After weighting the car with six good-sized men, however, the tires took a firmer hold, and after a long, steady strain the wheels of the engine began to revolve slowly. The accomplishment of the task is testified to by a number of witnesses, who at first declared it impossible, and looked for the breaking of the rear axle or the pulling out of the entire end of the car. The engine was not under way, however, and drawn for some distance down the track without injury to the automobile in any way.—From the June Strand.

A STRONG REFERENCE.
A young man recently applied for a position with a large printing house, and not having a letter of reference, offered his bank book. It showed a regularity of entries of deposit. It was a very strong recommendation, indicating character and persistence, which finally secured for him a good position.

IMPROVING TENDENCY IN STOCKS CHECKED

FOR A TIME OPENING TONE WAS MORE CHEERFUL

In the Last Half of the Day the Market Worked Downward Again Carrying Prices Around Yesterday's Low Point.

(By Associated Press)

New York, June 3.—Renewed liquidation of dividend paying stocks, some of which were under heavy pressure earlier in the year and the unfavorable tenor of the government's weekly weather report put a check on the improving tendency displayed by the market during the early trading today. For a time after the opening the tone was more cheerful and some progress was made toward a recovery from yesterday's sharp decline. Union Pacific and Canadian Pacific, the weak features of the preceding day, moved up strongly at the outset and the whole list presented a better front.
In the last half of the day the market worked downward again, with active selling in the final hour which carried prices around yesterday's low point.

The weather report showing a serious deficiency in precipitation over certain sections of the south and middle west and consequently unfavorable crop conditions, was one of the main factors in the increased heaviness of the market late in the day.

The downward tendency was helped by liquidation in such dividend paying stocks as N. Pacific, which dropped 3 points to the lowest price since the 1907 panic. Smelting, which lost 3 points, Illinois Central and Baltimore & Ohio, the decline in active shares continued and about 30 stocks of all kinds touched a new low record for the year.

The Perfect Baby Of The Future

A Simple Method That Has a Wonderful Influence upon The Future Infant.

Too much can not be said for a wonderful remedy, familiar to many women as Mother's Friend. It is more eloquent in its action than all the health rules ever laid down for the guidance of expectant mothers. It is an external application that spreads its influence upon all the cords, muscles, ligaments and tendons that nature calls into play before the new life enters without pain, without strain, and thus leave the mind care-free and in joyful anticipation of the greatest of all womanly ambitions.

Mother's Friend must therefore be considered as directly a most important influence upon the character and disposition of the future generation. It is a conceded fact that, with nausea, pain, nervousness and dread banished, there is stored up such an abundance of healthy energy as to bring into being the highest ideals of those who fondly theorize on the rules that insure the coming of the perfect baby.
Mother's Friend can be had at any drugstore at $1.00 a bottle, and it is unquestionably one of those remedies that always has a place among the cherished few in the medicine cabinet.
Mother's Friend is prepared by the Bradford Regulator Co., 139 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., after the formula of a noted family doctor.
Write them for a very instructive book to expectant mothers. See that your druggist will supply you with Mother's Friend.
There is a wealth of instruction and comfort to be derived in reading this little book. It is plainly written, just what every woman wants to know, and it is a splendid little textbook for guidance, not only for yourself, but will make you helpful to others. And, in the meantime, do not fail to get a bottle of Mother's Friend at the drug store, and thus fortify yourself against any and all pain and discomfort.

philosophy of education. Stanley Hall has applied this genetic prinand positivistic method, which shows the nature of man in his educational development. His methods are methods of confirmation and proof and satisfy in a logical way the demands which all philosophy must meet in common reflection. Philosophy is an exercise of reason and in this direction, Darwin has as I said in the beginning, strongly influenced modern philosophical thought. "A philosopher who knows his calling today, seeks to interpret natural law, not to discover violations of it." This is what Stanley Hall has done in his masterly studies in educational thought and to quotations from these studies I will now invite your attention.

Hall says: "The individual is, in some way, affected by everything he comes in contact with, from the first moment of life until the end. Teaching and all other conscious efforts to shape the course of development are parts of a larger whole, the natures and laws of which must be taken into account in an adequate study of education. The purpose of teaching, thus considered, becomes plain. It is a factor in evolution; like a natural selection, sexual selection, adaptation, it is a means of carrying on the development of the individual and the evolution of the race to a higher level. Man is yet incomplete; it is likely that all his best experiences still lie before him.
He may be only at the beginning of a career, the end of which we cannot foresee. If this be true, the function of the present generation is to prepare for the next step. It must so live that it may become the best possible transmitter of heredity and, to the greatest degree to which it is capable, it must add to the equipment of the new generation.
The efficiency with which these functions are performed is the test of the value to society, of education and of all public institutions and private morality. All are best judged according to the service they perform in advancing the interests of mankind."

Service is Highest Product.

Service is, thus through Darwinian concepts, shown to be the highest evolutionary product of man's capabilities. It is plain that the steadfast tendency of the advance in organic series of lives, which unite one generation with another, is towards contributing the profit to the succeeding generation what the preceding generation gained from experience. This has been true since social order began, in the development and growth of human sympathy. The mind of primitive man, as contrasted with that of civilized man, even on superficial observation, prove these fundamental facts. The difference in thought processes in primitive man and those of civilized man indicate a difference in character of traditional material out of which associations must be made. The instruction given to the child of primitive man is not based on centuries of experimentation, but consists of the crude experience of generations.
(Doas.)

The child associates new perceptions, new experiences, both in primitive and civilized man, with whole masses of traditional material and interprets his observations by its means. The results may be different in types of explanation. The course of mental evolution has been upward and the test as shown in results prove that education is founded on genetic concepts. It aims to explain all observations and experiences carrying educational values by seeking their origin; their genesis.
To understand any trait of the human mind, it is necessary to discover, not only the relation of the mental process to the changes in the nervous system upon which it depends and to analyze the process into its elements, but we must know the genesis of the trait in the individual, both in its physical and its mental manifestations, and connections, and also the whole history of it as it appears in the race. "The genetic method has, therefore, two main branches, the study of mind in its development in the child, and the study of mind in its evolution in the race. No problem can be regarded as deeply understood that does not take into account both these aspects."

Partridge says: "This is precisely the kind of psychology that is of most interest to a science of education, which, of necessity, is concerned with the facts about childhood and their interpretations or meaning." This is biologicis psychology and, in its application, we study the child both experimentally and by observation. The spirit of the genetic method is thus brought out in its true light.

Child study so enthusiastically promoted by Stanley Hall has developed a normal psychology of child life and, in the hands of Binet, Simon, Lighter, Witmer and others, we have learned much of the abnormal psychology of childhood.

We now have methods of study of the mental life of the child, which associate working hypothesis, showing that mental states or processes are concomitant with physical states or processes.

Child Epitome of Racial History.
"The child of today has in its pedigree, the stored experiences of the far past. The traits now so diligently being studied by modern psychologists can be explained in no other way than that in the past they were useful under the conditions of the life of the past," continued Dr.
Norbury in bringing out the idea that in the life of the child there is epitomized the previous history of the race, that each step in the child's development represents distinct periods in the life of primitive man.
The infant's propensity for continual grasping is a remnant of the day of the tree man. Many of the stages through which the race has passed are depicted in childhood play. History is again recapitulated in the adolescent period. The youth is apt to repeat the racial history of the past in intemperance; of going beyond and living beyond the resources that are within his powers.

From a consideration of modern history it is evident that we are now in the adolescent period, with its striving, enduring, restlessness, and constant motion toward a would be more satisfactory goal.

Importance of Instinct.
To develop the highest economic and moral efficiency in man it is necessary to have a correct understanding of the instincts. The feelings and instincts are the greatest parts of any nature. It is important that we grasp the essentials of these fundamental tendencies, or primary instincts, which are the foundations of conduct and the determiners of the social life of man. It is important that we realize the importance of the reproductive instinct, the responsibility each individual bears for the future welfare of the race.
The instinct for pugnacity should be carefully studied, both for the possibility through diverting it to healthful emulation of using it to the moral and social upbuilding of the individual, and by reason of the influence it has exerted in the formation of the social customs of society as a whole. Following the pugnacious instinct is the gregarious instinct which in civilized society rises to such serious problems as those of the spirit of the mob, the "tenderloin," and the slum. It is the injurious social results of this instinct which gives us the modern social problems.

The Religious Instinct.
The religious instinct is approachable from the psychological and the historical point of view.
Religion has been a powerful factor in social evolution. The religion of a tribe or a community, is always the embodiment of the religious experiences of individuals who are influenced by the mode of life and the grade of culture of their fellows.

The religion of the future will therefore, repeat the creeds and dogmas of today. It must do this to show the validity of evolutionary thoughts, though we do not believe that the idealism of Jesus Christ will ever occupy a lesser place than it does at the present time. "We believe that He will still continue to be the exemplar, the final and ultimate standard, of human effect, which the ideal self in its struggle with the social self, will pattern, and in conduct strive to realize."

TAP LINE CASES UP A GAIN.

Washington, June 3.—The so-called tap line case, which has attracted country wide attention, came up for argument before the commerce court here today. The question at issue is whether 57 tap lines located in various states are common carriers and entitled to participate in joint rates. The suit was begun in 1910 and after a large amount of evidence had been introduced the interstate commerce commission ruled that among more than one hundred tap lines which were parties to the proceeding there were 57 which should be classified merely as "plant facilities" and not as public service roads.
An appeal from this decision was taken to the commerce court. It is expected that eventually the case will reach the supreme court of the United States for final decision.

Mrs. Michael Ryan were among the

MATRIMONIAL

Reid-Stout.

A pretty home wedding took place Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. James Stout on West North street, when their daughter, Miss Zella Mae Stout, became the bride of Mr. Robert Humphrey Reid. The ceremony was said in the presence of only relatives and intimate friends by Rev. W. L. Dorgan, pastor of the First Baptist church.

The Stout home was prettily decorated for the occasion by the artistic arrangement of roses and other flowers and preceding the entrance of the young people, Miss Lona Herman sang "Oh, Promise Me," with Mr. Earl Richardson as accompanist. Mendelssohn's wedding march was used. The bride wore a gown of cream color satin and carried a beautiful shower bouquet of bride's roses. She is the younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Stout and has supplemented her course in the high school by studying music and art. She is an accomplished young woman and withal a lovable and charming person to know.

The groom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. David Reid. He is a graduate of the high school and is a photographer by occupation, having recently purchased the McCullough studio on the east side of the square. He is most favorably known among the younger business men of Jacksonville.

When the refreshments were served the wedding cake was cut and the following received the various articles: The key, Miss Josephine Ross; the dime, Mr. Tillman Stout; the thimble, Miss Hattie Adams; the darning needle, Miss Lona Herman. The young people received some lovely presents. They expect to reside after September 1 at the home of the groom's parents on West College avenue.

ANNUAL EXHIBITION OF SCHOOL OF FINE ARTS

Splendid Work Displayed by Students of This Department at the Woman's College.

The annual exhibition of the School of fine arts of the Woman's college opened Saturday and closed yesterday. It is a pleasure to note the wonderful advancement that has been made in this department, which for a number of years has been under the capable direction of Miss Knopf. Each passing year, a higher grade of work is shown and the fact that the school is on a par with the universities speaks of its standing.

As the visitors entered the room they were impressed with the beauty of the place and the unique arrangement of everything. The design work is a study of itself and the exhibition was truly a revelation of what the students can do along this line. The theory and practice of design is a course running through two years and there are two classes, the home economics and the craft class.

The fundamental training for art work is found in the charcoal designs. There were a large number of designs on exhibition, showing good tone work, delicate coloring, and all the subjects were well handled. Especial mention can well be made of the "Bacchus" drawn by Miss Gary Bunce of this city.

The larger part of the exhibition was the water colors and here some painstaking and complimentary work was revealed. Interest subjects were used. They were rich in color and tone and technically good. Individual mention could well be made of the work of the pupils in this particular line of endeavor.

The china painting attracted many yesterday, the conventional designs with the beautiful colors, gave evidence of what can be accomplished along this line. There was a good display in oils, the students showing nice feeling for form and color and also attractive subjects were used. The craft work consisting of various kinds of leather and metal subjects, made an interesting section of the exhibit.

GRADUATION AT LUTHERAN SCHOOL
Three Given Diplomas At Closing Exercises Which Were Held Sooner Than Expected On Account of Enforced Absence of Pastor—Picnic Today.

The German Lutheran school closed the work for the year with brief exercises and the presentation of diplomas to three graduates Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock. It had been planned to have the formal closing of the school Tuesday afternoon, but the hurried calling away of the pastor, the Rev. J. G. Kuppel, to the bedside of Edward Freitag, a member of his church who was seriously sick caused a quick change in program. Those to whom diplomas were presented are Erwin Aufdekamp, Emma Weigand and Ella Dwyer.

In his address to the graduates, Rev. Mr. Kuppel reviewed various phases of the past work of the graduating students and spoke of what would be expected of them in the future. He said that their education should have taught them the value of a sound mind in a sound body and of the desirability of a soul strong in good works and pure. Rev. Mr. Kuppel has been burdened with the double duties of the school and his pastorate since the departure of Prof. Bruening. Prof. W. Bertram of Adderton, Ill., the successor appointed to Prof. Bruening, was occupied elsewhere during the latter part of the present school year.

If bad weather doesn't intervene there will be a great picnic today at Nichols park. A large attendance is expected of the pupils of the school and Sunday school. Everyone will bring a basket lunch for the spread. A very good program has been planned consisting among other things, of games, contests and races.

The Gallatin Democrat (Shawneetown) of recent date had the following regarding a gentleman who visited here several times some years ago. He and his wife were accompanied by Miss Eula Blanche Pitzer, who studied music here for a time:

"George A. Lowe, one of the most prominent business men and citizens of Shawneetown, died at his home at 4:00 o'clock this morning. His passing away was very sudden and unexpected. He ate a very hearty supper and was in good health when he went to bed last night. Mr. Lowe was born in this city April 15, 1849, and was 64 years, one month and six days of age.

"His death was a great shock to the people of this city where he was born, educated, grew to manhood, and where he numbered his friends by his acquaintances.

"He was the senior member of the firm of A. K. Lowe & Sons, general merchants in this city for the last twenty-five or thirty years, stood very high in the estimation of all who knew him as a business man and as an exemplary citizen.

Although he was seriously sick but a short time, his health had not been good for more than two years. He has all his life been a resident of Cass county, where at the time of his death he had extensive farming interests.

The deceased, who was the uncle of D. E. Kennedy of this city, is survived by a wife, one daughter and two granddaughters. His wife, Mattie J. Henderson, is a sister of J. W. Johnson of Arcadia.
